Anderson shifts to virtual learning

Trending virus numbers cause for concern

BY BOB DEMAREE

With cases of COVID-19 on the rise throughout Indiana — and Jefferson County — Madison Consolidated Schools made the decision Wednesday to shift Anderson Elementary students to virtual learning beginning Thursday.

The decision, based on the school's number of COVID-19 infections, will be effective through Aug. 30, in an effort to keep the virus from impacting more students and faculty.

Madison Consolidated Schools had already made the call to require masking up as a precaution with all students, faculty and staff at all schools required to wear

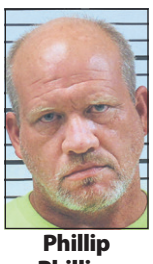
Man charged with molestation, rape of female juveniles

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Detectives from the Indiana State Police-Versailles Post have arrested a Jefferson County man on felony charges of child molesting, rape and sexual battery.



Phillip Phillips

Phillip Thomas Phillips, 52, Lexington, Indiana, was arrested on a Jefferson County bench warrant on Monday morning at his place of employment in Scott County, Indiana. He was transported to the Scott County Jail before being transferred to the Jefferson County Jail where he is being held on a $50,000 full cash bond.

Detective Jason Duncan began investigating the case in March 2021 when two female juveniles reported that they had been molested. During interviews with the Child Advocacy Center, the victims alleged that between August 2019 and March 2021, they were inappropriately touched by Phillips on more than one

Hanover park looks at reviving tree trail

BY BOB DEMAREE

A tree trail established at Hanover Community Park more than 20 years ago but mostly forgotten since could be brought back to the forefront in the near future.

Hanover Parks Director Scott Davidson told members of the Hanover Park Board Tuesday that efforts to make improvements to the trail are currently underway.

Davidson mentioned there is a plaque at the park, dated 1999, designating the "Hanover Park Tree Trail" and he has been working with Hanover resident Barb Ford to research the park's trees, the tree trail, and develop a plan for better developing the trail as a recreational and educational feature in the park.

Davidson said the goals include identifying trees along the trail, determining the health of those trees, establishing a proper tree care procedure moving forward and adding to the current inventory of trees in the park.

"Ultimately, our hope is that this tree trail would be used by local students and teachers as part of outdoor educational opportunities," he said, noting the plan

City proposes 'experiment' to calm Main Street traffic

Plan would reduce Broadway to Cragmont to 3 lanes

BY MARK CAMPBELL

When contractors apply two coats of a black asphalt sealer to the pavement on Madison's Main Street next month, for the first time in decades the city will have a truly blank canvas on how that roadway could look as well as an opportunity to experiment with fixing traffic problems that have been years in the making.

Deputy Mayor Mindy McGee and Mayor Bob Courtney have been studying the issue for months along with the city's highway architects and are now proposing testing some of those theories when the highway is re-striped in October.

The central business district from Jefferson Street to Broadway will pretty much be off limits to

Ribberfest is coming

Above: Volunteers Bobbie Jo and Mark Timmons (left) and Steve Thomas (right) were working to set up tents Wednesday on Vaughn Drive for this weekend's Madison Ribberfest BBQ & Blues Festival at Bicentennial Park in downtown Madison. The Timmons, former residents of Illinois, recently moved to Madison after visiting the community for about 10 years and wanted to get involved locally by volunteering for the event. The festival runs Friday and Saturday.

Eagle scout makes music his project

BY CHARLIE ROHLFING

"To earn your Eagle Scout rating you have to do a community project," explains Hunter Getz. "To fund your community project, you have to raise the money, that's part of the process. And I couldn't think of a better way to raise money than a benefit concert. It seems like it always circles back around to music eventually. That's what's important to me."

Hunter is a recent graduate of Madison Consolidated High School, a lifelong Madison resident and the son of Robert and Sharon Getz.

"My Eagle Scout project is a new wooden gate at the west end of the Heritage Trail property, where it comes out across from Dr. Kennedy's dental office. I have The Moose Lodge and Ghost Note Music as sponsors, but that doesn't cover all the costs.

"I've always been into music of all kinds. I was a member of the MCHS concert choir, and recently I've gotten into writing my own songs and performing. So I was talking it over with my dad and we came up with this idea to have a benefit concert to raise the additional money.

County assessor resigns to pursue nursing career

BY BOB DEMAREE

Karen Mannix says she loves being Jefferson County Assessor, but next week she will embark on a new career as a palliative care nurse.

Mannix has resigned as County Assessor with Friday being her last day as an elected county official. On Monday, Mannix will begin classes at Ivy Tech Madison toward obtaining an associate of science degree in nursing, and once that's achieved will pursue a bachelor of science in nursing.

Karen Mannix

Mannix first considered becoming a palliative care nurse several years ago during the time leading up to her mother's death in 2018 and then again in 2020 when her mother-in-law died.

She said it's the sense of being able to be supportive and providing information that's needed during difficult times, and "to be there for those families."

Mannix, who applied for and was accepted into nursing school last spring, noted "this is where God is leading me" and that requires stepping down as County Assessor because "it's not fair for me go to nursing school and not be at work."

Her term as County Assessor ends on Dec. 31, 2022, which she said she fully intended to complete when elected in 2018, "but I had to follow God's call, and be obedient to that."

Mannix said she's enjoyed being County Assessor and it has been an "honor" to serve that office. "I will miss being County Assessor. I have really loved my job and loved what I am doing," she said.

Mannix actually has served the county since April of 2004 when she began work as a legal secretary in the Prosecutor's Office while Chris Naylor served as prosecutor for the Fifth Circuit Court with Mark Wynn chief deputy prosecutor. Mannix ran for County Clerk in 2006, but was not elected. She sought that office again in 2010 and was elected and was re-elected in 2014. In June of 2016, Mannix was elected by caucus as County Assessor to fulfill the unexpired term of Tina Gleeson and in 2018 was elected to a full term as County Assessor.

A native of central Florida, Mannix moved to Hamilton, Ohio, in the mid-1990 and worked as a legal secretary in both Florida and Ohio before coming to Madison in 2003. Being close to family living in Jefferson County was a factor in the decision by Mannix and her husband, Larry, to move to Madison, but she also very much liked the community.

"I fell in love with Madison and wanted to move here," Mannix said.

The Jefferson County Republican Party will now hold a caucus to elect a successor who will serve the unexpired portion of Mannix's term ending Dec. 31, 2022. Republican Party Chairman Pam Crozier has scheduled that caucus for Saturday morning at The Fountain Building, 402 West Main Street, Madison.

Site of supper club fire to be developed

SOUTHGATE — New construction is slated to begin in northern Kentucky at the site of the former Beverly Hills Supper Club, where only memorials have stood since a fire destroyed the building and killed 165 people in 1977.

Ashley Builders Group said in a statement on Monday that construction will start by the end of August on a residential community called Memorial Pointe, The Kentucky Enquirer reported, citing a statement from the builder.

The newspaper reported in November that the builder and some descendants of fire victims resolved a lawsuit over the plans for the property with an agreement that would allow construction to proceed on most of the 80-acre site in Southgate, but reserve the area where the Cabaret Room was located for a permanent memorial to victims.

would include plaques on each tree to identify the species and QR codes to provides expanded information about the tree.

Britt Copeland, extension educator for Purdue Extension-Jefferson County, and Dave Osborne, extension educator for Purdue Extension-Ripley County, surveyed all the trees and reported back to Davidson that most look good. They identified species including Pin Oak, White Pine, Silver Maple, Tulip Poplar, Sugar Maple, Dogwood, Black Locust, Black Cherry, American Sweetgum, Yellowwood, White Ash, Cypress, Ginkgo, American Hornbeam, Black Gum, Golden Rain Tree and Norway Maple. Davidson suggested the possibility of adding even more trees involving varieties not currently represented in the park to increase the educational value of the trail.

He said the tree trail provides another attraction at the park.

"It another reason for people to want to come out to the park," he said.

In other business:

• Davidson said the park's grant application with the Indiana Department of Natural Resources appears to be moving forward in a positive manner and he hopes to receive confirmation this fall. He said DNR officials have been asking questions, which he thinks is a good indication of Hanover's chances to receive funding. "As long as they keep asking questions, we're still in the ballgame," he said.

• Davidson reported on receipts from the Hanover Parks Department this summer with total income of $24,559 and expenses of $23,216.93. Income on baseball and softball totaled $14,330 with costs $15,369.50. Concessions took in $5,846.50 with costs at $5,957.43. Festival income was $3,302.50 with costs $1,645. He said there is approximately $7,600 in the Parks Department revolving fund.

• Davidson said Elle Ford, a senior at Southwestern High School, has been leading scavenger hunts, word searches and coloring pages with park activities. "She's doing a great job," said Davidson.

• Heard a suggestion for a monthly Farmer's Market at Hanover Community Park. No plans have been finalized, but Davidson thinks it's an idea worth exploring. "We can start small and build on it," he noted.

• Hanover Parks will participate with the Jefferson County Soccer Association for Under 6, Under 8 and Under 10 soccer at Hanover Park beginning in September.

• Hanover Parks will offer fourth and fifth grade volleyball leagues this fall and applications are being accepted until Aug. 31.

COVID-19

masks except during meal time.

So far Anderson is the only school to shift to virtual learning, but other schools in the county are concerned with the way numbers are trending.

At Southwestern, School Nurse Tanya Yarling said there have been approximately 10 positive cases of COVID-19 there but numbers are trending upwards.

"Right now, it's pretty manageable, but every day we get a little more," said Yarling. "We're hanging in there, but I am concerned it could get heavier next week."

Gov. Eric Holcomb on Monday offered his support to the growing number of school districts across the state that have issued new mask mandates for students and staff amid strong opposition.

"I think the schools that are putting mask mandates into place are making a wise decision when the facts warrant it," Holcomb said. "I'm not surprised by the pushback having lived through the last year and a half."

At the same time Holcomb will continue his policy of allowing local officials to impose mask rules and other steps aimed at stemming the coronavirus spread even as several school boards are facing vocal opposition to such measures.

In the past week, 1,452 new COVID-19 cases were recorded just among K-12 students in Indiana — four times the number the previous week — according to updated figures released Monday by the Indiana Department of Health (IDOH).

Southwestern requires students wear masks on buses, but masks remain voluntary inside the school buildings.

Meanwhile, Jefferson County Health Department Administrator Tammy Monroe said the county would remain at a "Red" advisory level on the IDOH metrics map when the state map updated at noon on Thursday.

"If you are sick, please seek testing right away and stay away from others until you know your results. You can receive free testing at the Jefferson County Community Testing Site located at King's Daughters' Hospital Convenient Care, 445 Clifty Drive, Madison, IN 47250 812 273- 5372, or you can schedule your COVID test by visiting www.coronavirus.in.gov," Monroe wrote.

In lieu of climbing infection numbers and the highly contagious nature of the delta variant, JCHD also issued two strong recommendations for local residents:

• Universal masking for all individuals in indoor public settings regardless of vaccination status.

• Universal indoor masking for all teachers, staff, students, and visitors to K-12 schools, regardless of vaccination status.

Breakthrough cases remain at approximately 0.225% across the state with Jefferson County reporting 76 breakthrough cases. Breakthrough hospitalizations are 0.008% of vaccinated individuals with breakthrough deaths at 0.003% across the State of Indiana.

Switzerland County was to also remain in the "Red" metric for "high" community spread and in Kentucky, both Trimble and Carroll counties have incidence rates that are also "Red" for "high" community spread.

In the last day, Jefferson County recorded 38 new positive cases of COVID-19, bringing the county's overall total to 3,853. Meanwhile, Switzerland County had 10 new positive cases, lifting its overall total to 925. Trimble County saw seven new cases, increasing the overall total to 820 and Carroll County had eight new cases and has now had a total 1,175 cases during the pandemic. Death totals remained the same in all four counties with Jefferson at 87, Switzerland and Trimble at 8 each and Carroll at 21. Jefferson County's 7-day positivity rate is 13.2% while Switzerland County is 14.1%, Trimble County's is 23.19% and Carroll County's is 11,68%.

Throughout the State of Indiana, there have been 3,558 new positive cases of COVID-19 in the last day for an overall total of 809,545 during the pandemic. Also, there were 25 new deaths for an overall total of 13,768.

On Tuesday in Kentucky, there were 3,276 new cases of COVID-19 for an overall total of 522,209. Additionally, 8 new deaths were reported, lifting that overall total to 7,459.

From Aug. 9-15, 17,935 Kentuckians were diagnosed with COVID-19, up from 13,903 the week of Aug. 2-8, and up from 1,024 the week of June 21-27 (the week the state reported its lowest number of cases in more than a year).

Kentucky Gov. Andy Beshear announced Tuesday record pediatric COVID-19 hospital admissions and warned that children are facing greater risk than at any time in the pandemic.

"COVID-19 isn't just hitting adults," said Beshear. "With the delta variant, your kids are at a greater risk than they have been before."

COVID-19 cases among Kentucky children have increased more than 400% in the last month from 133 on July 16 to 548 on Aug. 16. On Monday, Kentucky had 17 pediatric admissions for COVID-19.

Dr. Steven Stack, commissioner of the Kentucky Department for Public Health, announced that a third dose of the Pfizer-BioNTech or Moderna COVID-19 vaccine is recommended for immunocompromised Kentuckians at least 28 days after a second dose. Dr. Stack said people with normal immune systems are not advised to receive an additional dose at this time. Additionally, individuals who have received a Johnson & Johnson vaccine are also not recommended to receive an additional dose at this time.

All Kentuckians can sign up for a COVID-19 vaccination appointment near where they live or work at vaccine.ky.gov.

OBITUARIES

Judy Bray

Judith "Judy" A. Butler Bray, 82, of Madison, Indiana, died Thursday, Aug. 12, 2021, at University of Louisville Hospital in Louisville.

She was born on Sept. 24, 1938, in Milton, Kentucky, to James "J.W." and Ruth Wheeler Butler. She was raised in Trimble County and was a 1957 graduate of Trimble County High School. She married Thomas Dugan Bray on July 27, 1957, in Milton and they had three children. She co-owned and co-operated with her sister, Diane, the "Corner Cupboard" restaurant and catering and was co-owner and co-operator of K-Bee's flower shop in Milton. She was a member of River Valley Community Church in Madison and taught Sunday school for many years. She had resided in Madison since 1960 and enjoyed sewing, reading, cooking, watching HGTV, singing in the church choir, coordinating with her sister the Prime-Timers, collecting tea pots and spoiling her grandchildren.

Survivors include her sons, Stanley Bray of Madison and David Bray of Milton; her daughter, Shawna Bray Birge of Madison; a sister, Diane Ferrell of Madison; a brother, Donald Butler of Clay City, Kentucky; and seven grandchildren, two great grandchildren; two step grandchildren, two step-great grandchildren, several nieces, nephews and other relatives.

She was preceded in death by her parents; her husband of 60 years on Feb. 2, 2018; a brother, James "Jimmy" Butler Sr.; and a sister, Linda S. "Lynn" Butler Murphy.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. on Friday, Aug. 20, at the Morgan & Nay Funeral Centre in Madison. Interment will follow in the Moffett Cemetery in Milton. Visitation is 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday and 10 a.m. until time of services Friday at the funeral home.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Jefferson County Animal Shelter, American Cancer Society, American Heart Association or the American Diabetes Association through the funeral home. Online condolences and memorials, www.morgan-nay.com.

Flo Wilson

Florence Ann "Flo" Wilson, 85, of Carrollton, Kentucky, died Thursday, Aug. 5, 2021, in Shalimar, Florida.

She was born in Covington, Kentucky, on May 12, 1936, to Robert Florian Grobmeier and Anna Frances Grobmeier. She was educated at St. John's Catholic School in Carrollton; Villa Madonna Academy in Covington, and graduated from Carroll County High School in 1954. She married James P. "Jim" Wilson on June 30, 1956, and they went on to live in two countries and seven states. She loved to travel and living 13 years in Saudi Arabia provided many opportunities to visit several countries. She loved to try new foods, experience new cultures and was an avid reader and viewer of PBS and especially KET.

Survivors include daughters Jama Snyder of Carrollton and Kendra Bates of Shalimar; and grandchildren, Spencer, Snyder, Zane, Riley and Quinn Bates.

She is preceded in death by her parents; her husband; and an infant sister.

A celebration of life will be held from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 4, at the Tandy-Eckler-Riley Funeral Home in Carrollton with a graveside service to follow.

BEAT

"We're doing it this Sunday afternoon, starting at 4:00 behind the Moose Lodge. We figure Ribberfest will be over by then and it's a way for people to just keep the music going to finish out the weekend. So far it will be me and Jamie Royce of R&R Music playing, but we hope to have two or three more acts lined up.

"I should also mention that we can keep going rain or shine, as the Moose has said we can bring the event indoors if we need to. But if the weather stays nice we'll be using the big backyard with the picnic tables and the playground equipment. It will be a real family friendly event.

"On a personal level, I'm really looking forward to performing and sharing my music. I've been playing guitar and bass for about three years now, and I have a lot I want to say through my songs.

"I mostly write about the issues that I see in daily life, the things that need more attention and conversation. Things like corporate greed, homelessness, food insecurity, and of course, equality. I'm trying to take real life and put it out there.

"I feel like my songwriting is kinda how country music used to be, when it talked about real issues. Today's country music isn't so much like that anymore.

"I just graduated from high school, so in many ways I'm just starting out. But I have a vision for my future. I'll need to get a job, I know, while I develop my music career. I'm thinking about learning game design and coding.

"But eventually I'd love to start my own band. And believe it or not, I kind of look to the 80s band The Traveling Wilburys as my model. It was a group of talented people who got together and played for the sheer joy of making music. That's inspiring to me. And that's where I hope my music will lead me some day.

HOT TIP OF THE WEEK

The big news in music this weekend is Ribberfest, of course. If you know it and love it, I don't need to tell you. Enough said. But maybe the most interesting night of music is Thursday, before Ribberfest kicks off. You can see a very special House of Jane Songwriter showcase outdoors at Sallie's Small Batch stage, across from the old Ruler. And just a block away on the Mad Paddle patio, a brand new band called Fuzzy Rojas will be debuting. Both of these shows will be amazing, and the thing to do is just wander back and forth and enjoy both! Also of note, for the very first time since I've been compiling the music calendar, we have live music scheduled all SEVEN days of the week, including a brand new open mic night at Crafted Coffee. If you love live music, you're in the right town!

Charlie Rohlfing is a retired advertising man and partner in The Red Bicycle Hall music venue. Look for his distinctive fedora bobbing above the crowd, anywhere live local music is happening.

In Loving Remembrance Of

Abby Dale Galbreath

Abby Dale Galbreath, 57, of Vevay, IN, passed away at 7:27 PM, Monday, August 16th, at her residence surrounded by her loving family. Abby was born in Cincinnati, OH on January 3, 1964, a daughter of the late Helen Frances (Saltzman) and Elmer George Emmich. She was employed as a security guard at Dow Corning. On November 10, 2001, she was married to Ralph "Sonny" Galbreath. Abby was a member of Quercus Grove United Methodist Church and Vevay VFW Women's Auxiliary. Abby enjoyed many passions such as riding horses, gardening, crafting, caring for her cats, baking, especially her famous apple pie, feeding the hummingbirds, dancing, and loved all things water and wildlife related, supporting various charities, and eating Graeter's ice cream. Above all, she loved spending time with her family and grandchildren, coloring and having game nights with them.

In addition to her husband, Abby is survived by sons Ross Galbreath (Katie) of Vevay, IN, Alex Galbreath of Vevay, IN, and Max Galbreath (fiancé Kelsey Pettit) of Dupont, IN, daughter Evelyn Galbreath (Zach Westerfield) of Hanover, IN; step sons Robert Galbreath (Bridgot) of Vevay, IN and Jeff of Rising Sun, IN; step daughters Marlena Galbreath of Vevay, IN, Martina Rice (fiancé Jerry Attebery) of Vevay, IN, and Marea Henry (Doug) of Rising Sun, IN; her stepchildren's mother, Matilde Galbreath of Vevay, IN; sisters Debbie Mahan of Cincinnati, OH, Yvette Emmich (Tommy) of Vevay,IN. Denise Young (Charles) of Vevay, IN , and Trece Ellis of Cincinnati, OH ; grandchildren Allie, Emily, Oakleigh, Rhett, Zayven, Michelle, James, Desirae, Marty, Marissa, Mara, Joe, Gabriel, Samuel, Michael, Amelia, Elaineah, and Mason; great grandchildren Landon, Peyton, Declan, and Aria; as well as many nieces, nephews, and their children. In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by step son Marcus Galbreath.

A public visitation will be held Friday, August 20, 2021 from 5 - 8 PM at the Markland Funeral Home. Funeral will be Saturday, August 21 at 10 AM with burial to follow at the Rising Sun New Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Red Wolf Sanctuary.

Let Us Pause To Honor The Memory Of

Mrs. Judith "Judy" A. Butler Bray

Mrs. Judith "Judy" A. Butler Bray, age 82, of Madison, Indiana entered this life on September 24, 1938 in Milton, Kentucky. She was the loving daughter of the late James "J.W." and Ruth Wheeler Butler. She was raised in Trimble County and a 1957 graduate of Trimble County High School. On July 27, 1957 Judy was united in marriage to Thomas Dugan Bray at the Milton United Methodist Church. This happy union of nearly 61 years was blessed with sons, Stanley and David and a daughter, Shawna. She was a loving wife, devoted mom, sister and grandma. She enjoyed co-owning and co-operating with her sister Diane, the "Corner Cupboard" restaurant as well as catering many events. Judy was the co-owner and co-operator of K-Bee's flower shop in Milton, Kentucky. She was a faithful member of the Rivervalley Community Church in Madison. Judy taught Sunday school for many years. She resided in Madison since 1960 and enjoyed her church work, sewing, reading, cooking, watching HGTV, singing in the choir, coordinating with her sister the Prime-Timers, collecting tea pots, and spoiling her grandchildren. Judith died on Thursday, August 12, 2021, at 6:25 am at the University of Louisville Hospital in Louisville, Kentucky.

A LOVING FAMILY

Judy will be missed by her loving sons, Stanley Bray of Madison, Indiana, David Bray and his wife, Michelle of Milton, Kentucky; her loving daughter, Shawna Bray Birge and her husband, Terry of Madison, Indiana; her loving grandchildren, Kristen Bray, (Chris), Justin Bray, Casi Bray, (Matt), Jarrett Bray, Collin Birge, Cooper Birge, Jason Birge (Jessica); her great grandchildren, Jaxton and Trenton Longville; her step great grandchildren, Jaymen and Rellick Birge; her step grandchildren, Kaliegh and Cole McGinn; her loving sister, Diane Ferrell and her husband, Tom of Madison, Indiana; her loving brother, Donald Butler and his wife, Linda of Clay City, Kentucky; her sister-in-law, Juanita Bray of San Antonio, Texas; her brother in law, William "Billy" Bray and his wife, Donna of Waddy, Kentucky; several nieces, nephews and other relatives. She was preceded in death by her father, James "J.W." Butler, died January 22, 2003, her mother, Ruth Wheeler Butler, died July 23, 2013, her beloved husband of nearly 61 years, Thomas Dugan Bray, died February 2, 2018, her brother, James "Jimmy" Butler, Sr., died October 19, 2007, her sister, Linda S. "Lynn" Butler Murphy, died January 5, 2017, her brothers in law, Joe Bray, Jimmy Bray, Jerry Bray, Phillip Bray, and Clifford Dwight Murphy.

ADHD is controlling my life

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I am in my late 50s, the proud mother of two grown men who have families of their own. I've been successful in my career and always accomplished whatever I set my mind to. But I always had a secret. I have ADHD. I was diagnosed in my late 20s. I never told anyone aside from my husband because it's so embarrassing. But the condition has affected my life in so many painful ways.

For decades, I took ADHD medication prescribed by my psychiatrist and, with the help of this medication, was able to keep my life under control. But about five years ago, I lost my job and my employer-provided medical coverage. I had to go on state medical insurance, which wouldn't cover the dosage I'd been prescribed for the previous 20 years. As a result, I've not been able to have the dosage I need in order to lead a productive life. My income has plummeted. I'm making about a third of what I used to make, when I'm able to hold down a job at all.

I saw another psychiatrist who told me the dosage that I needed wouldn't be approved. They made me feel like a drug user. But this narcotic is a legal drug to me. It doesn't get me high. It slows me down so I can function.

At my last job, I was having trouble grasping the new systems they were teaching me. I asked for a little bit more training. I was let go because they didn't feel like I could keep up.

In addition to my career and financial struggles, over the past few years, my marriage has suffered significantly.

I have two questions for you: How do I make myself feel worthy again? I just feel dumb. Secondly, what do I tell prospective employers about why I was let go? I can't tell them that my previous employer thought I was too slow.

ADHD has controlled my life. I want to fight back, for my livelihood as well as my dignity. — Severely Struggling

Dear Severely: First, know your rights. ADHD is recognized as a disability under the Americans with Disabilities Act, meaning people diagnosed with it may be entitled to accommodations in schools and workplaces. I recommend checking out the article "Your Workplace Rights with ADHD" on https://www.additudemag.com to learn more.

Additionally, if you haven't done so already, have your previous doctor release your medical records to your new doctor to demonstrate that you were on the higher dosage for many years. In the meantime, continue taking the lower dosage prescribed by your new doctor.

Medication is a major component of ADHD treatment, but counseling can also be helpful. It can inform healthy coping mechanisms for living with the disorder in a world not particularly well-suited for it. See what therapy you might have access to under your current insurance, or look for therapists who offer sliding-scale payment at https://www.psychologytoday.com.

Lastly, quit seeing ADHD as the enemy. It might make life more difficult in a world not particularly well-suited for the neurodivergent, but it doesn't make you defective. I encourage you to try virtual support groups through the Attention Deficit Disorder Association (https://add.org/adda-virtual-programs) and Children and Adults with Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (https://www.chadd.org/affiliate-locator).

Is it reasonable to expect an apology?

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: After my mother died, my father married a woman he found online. She only visited us once in person before she moved in and they got married. She wasn't always the nicest, and honestly, I was scared of her. She'd even "jokingly" call me Cinderella when she wanted me to do tasks around the house for her. I was an adult in therapy before anyone told me this was emotional abuse. Thankfully, this woman is long gone from my life (and my father's life).

I know people are only responsible for their own actions, but is it wrong of me to want an apology from my father? I'm still hurt that he never apologized for not protecting me more. I was a child, and he put this woman in a position of power over me. Should I ask for an apology? Should I let it go? — Still Hurting

Dear Still Hurting: I'm sorry that you lived through that. It's not wrong of you to want an apology from your father, but asking for one point-blank might not bring the satisfaction that you would hope: If he apologizes, you might feel he only did so because you asked him to. If he doesn't, you'll be angrier than ever. You absolutely should express to him how this hurt you. It might help to write your feelings down in letter format first so that you can make sure to cover everything. Remember that your father is flawed like all humans, and he may not react the way you'd like. But speaking your piece can bring some measure of peace.

Dear Annie: This is in response to "Vexed by the Ex Texts," who didn't like that her husband still regularly spoke with his ex-wife. My husband and I are in our 70s, and we both have children from previous marriages. We both have a very friendly relationship with his ex-wife and her current husband. We socialize at family gatherings in celebration of our children's accomplishments and our grandchildren's. We are "friends" on Facebook. Our relationship with his ex has made it possible for our children to be friends, for his children not to have to decide who to spend time with and for family gatherings to be fun. Plus, we just enjoy being together. We feel blessed to know one another. — Blended Family

Dear Blended: What a beautiful relationship. Thanks for your testimony to how we expand our hearts and worlds whenever we choose love over bitterness.

Dear Annie: You provided great advice to "Couple in a Conundrum," who found themselves in a sticky situation when a friend confided in them regarding her credit card debt, which she was hiding from her spouse. I would also like to suggest this woman in secret debt look into Dave Ramsey's Financial Peace classes. This program provides excellent advice, and the couple who wrote to you could perhaps offer to pay for the friend and her spouse. This could provide real solutions for them to not just tackle one financial issue but also bring about substantive changes in how they deal with money and get a handle on their money issues. — Janet S.

Dear Janet: Thanks for the tip. There are also free debt-management courses available online, including the free Alison.com class entitled Introduction to Managing Your Personal Finance Debts.

change because any redesign at this time would impact too many businesses and key intersections but the more residential section from Broadway to Cragmont has been earmarked as the focal point of a significant redesign of Main Street aimed at calming traffic, providing better street-side parking and giving pedestrians and bicyclists a safer place to coexist with the thousands of vehicles that use the street daily.

The overall plan began last year when Madison assumed control and maintenance of State Road 56 (Main Street) from Jefferson Street to the top of Hanover Hill from the state. The city quickly forced most heavy truck traffic off Main Street while looking for ways to reconfigure the four-lane section from Jefferson to Cragmont in a way that best serves motorists, pedestrians, bicyclists, golf carts and persons with mobility limitations.

"Improving public safety is one of the main benefits of assuming control over Main Street from INDOT and converting it from a state highway to a local road," Courtney said of the project. "State highways move traffic whereas streets move people. We have taken a data driven and methodical approach in considering this road conversion and the time to experiment with changing the traffic flow is now. The new traffic plan will reduce speeds and make on-street parking and crosswalks much safer."

The plan, as proposed during Monday's Board of Public Works and Safety and Tuesday's City Council meetings, is to reduce a stretch of Main Street from Broadway to Cragmont to three traffic lanes — single but wider lanes going both west and east with a wide turning lane in the center — while utilizing more of the paved area of the roadway for wider parking spaces, bicycles lanes and improved pedestrian safety and crosswalks on the sides.

While Main Street is scheduled to be resealed later this month, the re-striping won't take place until after the Madison Chautauqua Festival of Art in September. Between now and then the city plans to hold at least two public meetings to explain the proposal and gather feedback from residents. However, Courtney noted there may be no better time to conduct what he called an "experiment" to calm Madison's downtown traffic prior to the city's multi-million dollar total milling and repaving of Main Street in 2026.

McGee said based on traffic modeling by the architects, the lane reduction — from four lanes going east and west to three — will increase Main Street drive times by about eight seconds during peak periods but slow traffic to much safer speed limits in the more residential Broadway to Cragmont section where vehicles routinely clock speeds 20 mph over the speed limit.

McGee noted having two-lane traffic on Main Street is not unprecedented. In fact, the east and west ends of Main Street are both only two lanes and neither has a center turning lane. The turning lane should prevent stoppages waiting for vehicles to turn left — something the inside lanes on Main Street now have to do — and the wider lanes will give everybody a bigger buffer for safer passage.

"I don't anticipate people that live in that stretch will object to it," McGee told the BPWS. "We all know what the traffic is like. Honestly, the drag racing will stop because it's only one lane each way. So I don't anticipate people will be hugely upset about it, but I could be wrong. Business owners and pedestrian traffic will be much safer, so it's at least worth a try, especially since the data supports."

Courtney, one of those residents who live in the area slated for the change, said the proposal makes sense and is certainly worth the effort of the experiment because if the changes create problems the city can always paint over the area and re-stripe it in a different manner.

"Going from four to three will give us safer parking stalls, and safer multi-modal transportation whether you're a pedestrian walking or on a bicycle," he said ..."my car was totaled in front of my house on Main Street, and you're taking your life in your hands if you're trying to get in and out of your vehicle on Main Street the way it is now ... we can make this a safer part of our Main Street which is mostly residential without affecting commute times and traffic patterns and make it more consistent with the east and west ends of Main Street. It seems totally appropriate to me."

According to data complied by Madison Police Chief John Wallace, over the past 10 years between the 100 and 1200 blocks of Main Street there have been 411 traffic accidents worked of which 25 involved personal injury, 153 were vehicles that left the scene (often hit and runs on a parked car) and 233 were property damage. He said speed enforcement is another tool police use to calm traffic but it only works when a patrol is on site.

Council members and some members of the audience did question how the changes might impact the heavy traffic and gridlock downtown Madison often experiences during festivals and on busy weekends. Courtney said additional planning will be necessary to deal with that — in fact such planing is already being done ahead of the Chautauqua — and there may be a need for law enforcement assistance during those times.

Similar concerns were voiced on what impact the plan might have on Lydia Middleton Elementary, where family members dropping off and picking up children already cause congestion on Main Street and gridlock on Third Street. Courtney reminded council members that he lives across the street from Middleton and, based on his observations, Main Street should see little change and Third Street near the school is a traffic issue within itself separate from Main Street.

Information for this story was also gathered by Bob Demaree.

Indiana hospitals urge vaccinations

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

INDIANAPOLIS — Indiana's state and health care officials are raising alarms about increasing pressure the coronavirus is putting on hospitals as patient counts this week more than quadrupled pandemic lows recorded just weeks ago.

The state reported 1,616 residents were hospitalized with COVID-19 as of Tuesday, according to the most recent data released by the state health department. Of those, 408 were in intensive care, the most since Jan. 28.

The uptick comes one day after the state's hospitals recorded more than 1,500 COVID-19 patients for the first time since February.

The statewide patient count — which two weeks ago was fewer than 1,000 — prompted the Indiana Hospital Association to issue a warning and call for those who aren't yet vaccinated to do so immediately. The association reported that COVID-19 hospitalizations are up nearly 300% since July 4.

"Hoosiers should feel confident that Indiana's hospitals are managing through the current situation by collaborating with one another and the state of Indiana," Brian Tabor, the association's president, said in a statement. "However, should the current trends continue, everyone in need of health care could be impacted."

State Health Commissioner Dr. Kristina Box said Wednesday that unvaccinated people make up more than 97% of hospital admissions in Indiana. To relieve pressure on hospitals, more people need to get vaccinated, she said.

"Vaccination is the answer," Box said. "That's the way that we're going to get control over this pandemic. That's the way we're going to win over this virus."

New-look Cubs looking for big things in 2021

BY JORDAN BEAR

It would be hard to find a year where there has been more excitement for Madison football than this season, because head coach Leroy Wilson has his team believing they can have a special year.

Madison opens the 2021 season on Saturday when the Cubs travel into the heart of Kentucky to take on Class 3A Mercer County in the Little Caesars Ft. Harrod Bowl. Wilson, who is entering his third year at the helm, can't wait to get started.

"There is no ceiling for this team. They have to prepare and be ready. We have a lot of seniors returning on defense who have tons of experience which I'm really excited about," Wilson said. "We have some new guys on offense but I was really impressed with them (in Salem scrimmage). We can move the ball really well and I think it's going to be fun to watch."

Madison faced off against Salem in its annual scrimmage last Friday at Cub Field and the Cubs had some new pieces touch the gridiron on the offensive side of the ball.

The two most prominent new starters are at quarterback and running back where Kaden Oliver and Garrett Gatke will take the majority of snaps this season.

Oliver looked very sharp throwing the ball, hitting his receivers in stride and doing a nice job scrambling out of trouble when defenders were able to break through.

"Kaden has had all off-season to nail down the offense and it showed on the field," Wilson said of the junior quarterback. "In addition to his work knowing the offense he just has a lot of natural quarterback ability and he looks comfortable being in the offense and working with the weapons he has."

Gatke has a tough spot to fill in replacing do-everything running back Trenton Barnes, who carried Madison through much of last season.

However, Gatke appears to be meshing with the offense quite well.

"You just look at him on the sideline and he looks impressive," Wilson said. "He has spent all off-season in the weight room and worked on his body and has gotten so much quicker on his feet. I was very impressed by him tonight because he's going to see a lot of defenses send multiple guys so I think he'll be ready for it."

Madison enters the campaign looking for its first winning season since 2014, but the Cubs will face a much different looking schedule than in years past in the school's first season after leaving the Hoosier Hills Conference.

Saturday's opener is the first of four new opponents on the Madison schedule and the first three schools the Cubs will face are from Kentucky.

Mercer County finished 7-2 a year ago and made it all the way to the quarterfinals of the 3A playoffs so Wilson knows Saturday's game will not be easy.

"We're going to get their film and get ready for a battle," Wilson said. "I don't know a ton about them but you look at their records over the past few years and they've been consistently very good. We're going to break down the film, have a week of practice, and we'll be ready to go."

Moore resigns as boys coach at Carroll

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Two Courierarea schools are looking for new coaches after a pair basketball resignations in recent days.

Devin Brierly resigned as the girls head coach at Southwestern on Monday and over the weekend, Jonathon Moore stepped down as the boys head coach at Carroll County to take the same position at Franklin County.

Brierly's resignation was not as much of a surprise.

The 2008 Southwestern High School graduate had stepped away as the head softball coach in March after starting a new job outside of the school and spent the summer pondering whether she should do the same with basketball.

On Monday, she informed principal Jeff Bates and athletic director Tom Scroggins of her decision to leave.

Brierly declined to comment on the decision, preferring to let her letter of resignation speak on the matter.

"I am truly thankful for the opportunity that I was given to lead the Lady Rebels Basketball Program for the past four years. It was an honor and a privilege to coach at my alma mater," Brierly said in her letter of resignation. "It is not easy leaving this position, but I look forward to what the future may hold. I wish the Lady Rebels Basketball Program nothing but the best. Southwestern has and always will be very near and dear to my heart."

VOLLEYBALL ROUNDUP

Rebels roll over South Dearborn

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Southwestern volleyball posted a 3-1 win over South Dearborn at home on Monday.

The Rebels won 25-13, 22-25, 25-16 and 25-17.

Kylie Eccles was 32-for-34 hitting with 12 kills and four aces for the Rebels, Ashleigh Ream was 26-for-28 passing with 12 digs and 16-for-19 serving with two aces, Meaghan Kramer was 88-for-88 setting with 19 assists, 11-for-12 hitting with four kills, and added 12 digs, and Emma Long and Marissa Naylor had six kills each.

"We played pretty well tonight. I thought we were consistent all the way through the match. We definitely need some improvement offensively but communication was good and defense was outstanding," Southwestern coach Chris Johnson said. "Ashleigh Ream, Marissa Naylor, Parker Mefford and Meaghan Kramer worked well defensively for us. We will work on our serving game and offense tomorrow at practice to try to round out our game but we are looking good for this early in the season."

Southwestern, now 3-1, traveled to Clarksville on Wednesday and hosts Salem on Tuesday.

Madison's Henry Grote (10) heads the ball past Greensburg goalie Braylon Hahn during the Cubs' 6-1 win on Tuesday.

Madison boys open up with rout

Rebels roll over Hauser, 7-1

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Madison took a whopping 51 shots and had little trouble with Greensburg while rolling to a 6-1 win in the Cubs' boys soccer season opener on Tuesday.

Madison spent nearly the entire game on Greensburg's side of the pitch and held a 5-0 lead before the Pirates even got off a shot. Head coach Kyle Bipes said he wasn't surprised by the outcome, but noted that the Cubs still have plenty to work on.

"(Greensburg) was playing without their best player and without him I knew that this game could probably end up like this," Bipes said. "Overall I'm pleased but we weren't that efficient with our shots and finishing around the goal is definitely something that we will be working on in practice tomorrow."

While Madison attempted 51 shots in the game, only 19 of those were on goal and only six hit the net. Greensburg keeper Braylon Hahn finished the game with 13 saves.

"Fifty-one shots, 19 on goal and six goals," Bipes said. "That's not a very good percentage."

Still, Madison (1-0) took control of the game. Senior Henry Grote scored his first varsity goal in a Madison uniform when he headed in a cross from Adriano Martinez just six minutes into the contest. Sophomore Ian Eirikkson followed with a goal off an assist by Sonny Koren in the 17th minute and Koren found his own goal when he hammered in a rebound off a Clint Hearne shot in the 28th minute.

Martinez then scored on a blast from 25 yards out in the 35th minute and Eirikkson scored a minute later for a 5-0 lead.

With the lead at five, the rest of the game was played with a running clock under the IHSAA's new mercy rule. Greensburg finally broke through with a goal two minutes into the second half on a Cy Miller marker, and Grote added his second goal in the 58th minute when he redirected a Koren direct kick with his head for the final margin.

Greensburg finished the game with six shots and neither of Madison keepers Drew Forner and Graham Klein recorded a save.

Madison now faces an inter-county battle with rival Southwestern today. Like the Cubs, the Rebels posted a rout in their season opener and Bipes knows the match will be a battle.

"We're ready to play but it's a rivalry. We know it'll be 1-1, 2-1, 0-0 or something similar because it always is," Bipes said. "But if we can contain (Kaden) Zellers and (Brandon) Smith I like our chances."

Madison then travels to Silver Creek on Saturday.

REBELS ROLL OVER HAUSER

Southwestern boys soccer opened the season with a rousing 7-1 win at home against Hauser on Tuesday.

Kaden Zellers, Brandon Smith and Matt Mingione each scored two goals to lead the Rebels while Mizael Hernandez-Perez added one goal. Smith also had three assists and Zellers had one assist. Overall, Southwestern outshot the Jets 27-3 and goalie William Stockdale made two saves for the Rebels. Southwestern, now 1-0, hosts Madison today and hosts South Ripley on Monday afternoon.

SWITZ BOYS FALL TO HENRYVILLE

Switzerland County boys soccer fell 2-1 to Henryville on Tuesday in the Pacers' 2021 season opener.

Switzerland out-shot Henryville 23-16 but other than an Austin Bosaw goal, the Pacers couldn't find the back of the net.

Switzerland had eight shots on goal to seven by the Hornets and Aiden Furnish had five saves in goals for the Pacers.

Switzerland, now 0-1, had its game with Austin today postponed. The Pacers travel to Carroll County on Saturday and hosts Class A No. 4 Jac-Cen-Del on Monday.

MADISON GIRLS BEAT SCOTTSBURG

Madison girls soccer opened the 2021 season with a 5-3 win over sectional foe Scottsburg Monday on the road. The Cubs, now 1-0, hosted Switzerland County on Wednesday and head to Class 2A No. 12 Silver Creek on Saturday.

SWITZ GIRLS DRAW WITH MILAN

Switzerland County and Milan battled to a 2-2 tie in girls soccer in the season opener for both Monday in Vevay.

The Pacers scored two goals in the first half to take the lead but Milan roared back in the second half to gain the draw.

Switzerland, now 0-0-1 overall and in the Ohio River Valley Conference, traveled to Madison on Wednesday and to South Ripley today. The Pacers then host Carroll County on Monday.

Big Oaks to re-open Heron Inlet boat ramp Aug. 27

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Big Oaks National Wildlife Refuge and its friend's group, Big Oaks Conservation Society (BOCS), have announced that the Heron Inlet boat ramp and accessible dock on Old Timbers Lake will reopen to the public on Aug. 27.

Refuge staff and volunteers from the friends group replaced the old dock and ramp with new improved structures. BOCS applied and received a grant from the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation to share costs on this project. The project included a new concrete boat ramp with an adjacent accessible parking lot in addition to the accessible floating dock.

The Big Oaks Conservation Society will offer snacks and cold drinks at the official re-opening at 7:30 a.m. at the Heron Inlet boat ramp on Old Timbers Lake. The refuge and BOCS encourage disabled anglers and others to take advantage of this new facility.

Please note the following conditions apply to all visitors to access the refuge:

- All refuge visitors must view the safety briefing once per calendar year and sign an acknowledgement of danger form.
- Safety briefings will be limited to 30 visitors at a time and chairs will be spaced for social distancing.
- After visitors view their annual safety briefing and obtain their annual or daily permit, the refuge check-in will occur at the refuge east gatehouse, the white trailer on the east perimeter road.
- More information on these temporary changes will be described during the annual safety briefing.

Big Oaks has excellent fishing at Old Timbers Lake and trails available for bird watchers and other wildlife enthusiasts in the public use area in the northeastern portion of the refuge. A daily pass to the refuge costs $3, an annual pass is $15 and hunt permits are $10. Holders of an interagency Access/Senior Pass would have free admission. For information about how to obtain an Access/Senior Pass, please call the refuge office at 812-273-0783.

The health and safety of visitors, volunteers and employees remains the number one priority and public restrooms will be closed at the refuge office and in the Public Use Area until further notice.

Big Oaks continues to urge visitors to do their part when visiting Big Oaks National Wildlife Refuge. Please follow CDC guidance to prevent the spread of infectious diseases by maintaining a safe distance of at least six feet between yourself and others, wearing a mask, washing your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds, avoiding touching your eyes, nose, and mouth, and most importantly, staying home if you feel sick.

Big Oaks National Wildlife Refuge consists of approximately 50,000 acres on the former Jefferson Proving Ground located in Jennings, Ripley and Jefferson counties in southeastern Indiana. The refuge is managed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and provides public use opportunities such as hunting, fishing, wildlife observation and photography, interpretation and environmental education. The refuge has one of the largest contiguous forest blocks in the southeastern part of the state, as well as one of the largest grassland complexes in the state, both of which provide wonderful wildlife viewing opportunities to refuge visitors.

Please visit the Big Oaks National Wildlife Refuge website at https://www.fws.gov/refuge/big_oaks/ for current updates and status.

GOLF ROUNDUP

Pacers' Hines medalist at Butler Falls match

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Switzerland County's Hailey Hines was the low-medalist and the Pacers were the only team to post a score in a three-way golf meet at Butler Falls Golf Course on Monday in Hanover.

Hines shot a 46 to edge Jac-Cen-Del's Tracy McKittrick by three strokes. Overall, the Pacers shot a 226 with Lily Williams firing a 56 and Brooklyn Flanders and Kenna Perkins each carding 62s.

Ximena Vilchis Harrizon led Southwestern with a 52 while Hannah Sampson had a 60 and Kayla Boscia a 71.

"The girls did an amazing job responding to uncertain conditions today. After the heavy rain this morning, we were not sure we would get to play tonight. Holes six and seven were underwater but we replaced them with 17 and 18 allowing everyone to compete on a full nine holes tonight," Southwestern coach Matt Johnson said. "Weather conditions continually swung between hot and humid and threatening to storm but the girls hung in there mentally and finished their rounds strong. All the girls made great improvements in their putting game tonight. They finished a majority of holes in two putts with a couple of single putts in there as well."

Ally Mosier added a 68 and Emma Wagner a 69 for Jac-Cen-Del.

Switzerland County hosted Southwestern at Belterra Golf Course on Wednesday and Southwestern heads to Scottsburg today. Southwestern competes at Jac-Cen-Del on Monday.

MADISON SHOOTS SEASON-BEST

Madison girls golf carded its best nine-hole score of the season in a 186-231 win over Jeffersonville Monday at Sunrise Golf Course.

The Cubs produced the top two individual scores on the day and five of the top six to easily best their former Hoosier Hills Conference rival.

"Just about any time you shoot your season's best, you almost have to be happy as a coach," Madison coach Jake Shockley said. "All the credit has to go to the girls, though. Grace (Bronkella), Gracie (Gasaway), and Lilly (Fox) are splitting time with volleyball, so they have done a great job of putting time in on their own. All three tied or shot their personal best tonight."

Senior Keara Eder led the way for Madison with an even-par 36 followed by Bronkella with a 43. Fox carded a 58, Gasaway a 59, and Isa James shot a 60.

"Keara's 36 was a nice bounce-back from Saturday's 40 on the back nine. She had a boring nine-par round today. However, she did miss a couple of birdie puts and had some nice par saves, so it all kind of came out in the wash," Shockley said. "Isa's 60 was even bigger today. Reagan (Warren) had to go home sick from school today, and Isa filled in really well. I was really proud of her effort today."

Laken Tetley led Jeffersonville with a 45, Hadley Hannon had a 61, Katie Monroe a 62, Georgia Martin a 63 and Lauren Monroe a 68.

Madison hosted Providence on Wednesday and competes in the Floyd Central Invitational on Saturday. The Cubs then compete at Jac-Cen-Del on Monday.

HILLTOPPERS SHORTENED BY RAIN

Shawe girls golf played a rain-shortened seven-hole match at home on Monday.

All players completed seven holes and scores were adjusted to strokes over par in order to determine the team winner. Lawrenceburg finished 58 strokes over while Shawe was just three strokes back at 61 over. Henryville did not field a complete team.

Shawe's Kira Wells was 12 over for the match to lead the Hilltoppers while Gia Craig was 15 over, and Yolett Perez and Bailey Kilgore were both 17 over.

Lawrenceburg's Ella Shelton was 10 over to claim medalist. Grace Schmidt was 14 over while Sidney Benson and Hannah Fox were each 17 over. Lizzie Caudill was 23 over and Mia Klem was 26 over.

Emma Wallis was 24 over to lead Henryville and Olivia Parmenter was 26 over.

Shawe competes at Milan today and heads to Jac-Cen-Del on Monday.

TENNIS ROUNDUP

Rebels open season with win over Clarksville

BY THE COURIER STAFF

Southwestern boys tennis opened the 2021 season with a 3-2 win over Clarksville Monday on the road.

Jordan DeAtley posted a 6-0, 6-2 win over Ethan Neal at No. 1 singles while Braden Helton claimed a 6-2, 6-1 win over Terry Morgan at No. 3 singles. Carter Harmon lost 6-2, 6-2 to Elijah Powel at No. 2.

In doubles, Mason Lichlyter and Jeremiah Loos defeated Pau Martinez and Jalen Reyes 6-2, 6-3 at No. 2 while Tyler Simpson and Tanner Jacobs lost 5-7, 7-5, 6-4 to Aiden Craig and Saul Tatum at No. 1.

Southwestern, now 1-0, had its match at Edinburgh on Tuesday postponed due to rain. The Rebels compete in the Eastern (Pekin) Tournament on Saturday and travel to Christian Academy of Indiana on Monday.

MADISON FALLS 4-1 TO BROWNSTOWN

Madison boys tennis opened the 2021 season with a 4-1 loss at home to Brownstown on Monday.

Freshman Mitchell Cammack picked up a win in his first varsity match, defeating Smith Hackman 6-3, 6-1 at No. 3 singles. Bryce Miller suffered a 6-3, 6-0 loss to Ethan Davis at No. 1 singles and Kaid Fink fell 6-1, 7-5 to Pierson Wheeler at No. 2 singles.

In doubles, Matthew Burkhardt and Bodie Harsin fell 7-6 (7-2), 6-4 to Bryce Reaser and Conner Gwin at No. 1, and Landon True and Abe Reetz lost 6-1, 6-4 to Ethan Garland and Grant Elliott at No. 2.

Madison, now 0-1, traveled to Henryville on Wednesday and hosts Milan today. The Cubs then compete in the Bedford North Lawrence Invitational this weekend.

Kentucky hopes new faces return to winning

BY GARY B. GRAVES
ASSOCIATED PRESS

LEXINGTON — Kentucky coach Mark Stoops believes his Wildcats can do some damage in the Southeastern Conference this year after persevering through an emotional season.

The Wildcats return 14 starters from a 5-6 squad that struggled during a grueling 10-game Southeastern Conference schedule before regrouping to close with a TaxSlayer Gator Bowl victory over North Carolina State. The Wildcats also had to cope with the passing of longtime offensive line coach John Schlarman, who died from cancer. Linebacker Chris Oats was sidelined with an undisclosed medical condition and Kentucky had to navigate coronavirus issues like many schools.

But the Wildcats still found a way to capture their third consecutive postseason win, which provided a needed morale boost they aim to build on.

The NCAA transfer portal has helped, with the Wildcats adding receiver Wan'Dale Robinson (Nebraska), quarterback Will Levis (Penn State) and inside linebacker Jacquez Jones (Mississippi) among six newcomers. Nine players took advantage of getting an extra year of eligibility, giving Kentucky the pieces it needs to contend in the SEC East.

"I feel good about where we're at," said coach Mark Stoops, who begins his ninth season, second only to Alabama's Nick Saban (15) in SEC coaching seniority.

"I think we have a very good team, and we have some things in place. We're constantly learning, constantly growing, and we're getting better."

Kentucky will look different offensively with new coordinator Liam Coen's pro-style attack. Coen comes to Lexington after three seasons with the NFL's Los Angeles Rams, spending last fall as assistant quarterbacks coach working with Pro Bowler Jared Goff (now with the Detroit Lions).

At the very least, the Wildcats figure to pass more after throwing for just 1,336 yards last season. They will also have a new leader behind center with quarterback Terry Wilson's transfer to New Mexico after going 17-8 with two bowl wins as Kentucky's starter.

That QB competition has built offensive anticipation and added to Kentucky's enthusiasm, which took a lot of effort in 2020.

"One of the biggest things he wants is just pinpoint accuracy with everything we're doing," offensive tackle Darian Kinnard said of Coen's system. "Everything has a purpose and a reason, and it sets up a lot of stuff for a lot of the game.

"We've just got to keep sticking to it, keep working and master this new offense."

Some other things to watch as the Wildcats seek their sixth consecutive postseason appearance:

NEW SIGNAL CALLER

Stoops named Levis as the starter on Sunday, quickly ending what had been a three-man contest between Levis and holdovers Joey Gatewood and Beau Allen. Gatewood will transfer while Allen will be the backup.

Votto gets 2,000th hit, Reds hand Cubs 12th straight loss

BY MITCH STACY
ASSOCIATED PRESS

CINCINNATI — Jonathan India homered and drove in five runs, Wade Miley threw seven shutout innings and the Cincinnati Reds beat Chicago 14-5 on Monday night, handing the free-falling Cubs their 12th straight loss.

Joey Votto, the 37-year-old Cincinnati first baseman who has been on a tear since the All-Star break, got the 2,000th hit of his career, a solid single in the seventh. Votto came up again later in the inning and drove in a run with another base hit during an eight-run Reds outburst.

Miley (10-4) allowed four hits and struck out seven as the Reds won for the ninth time in 13 games and moved within 1 1/2 games of San Diego for the second NL wild card.

India's two-out drive into the upper deck in the fourth scored Miley and gave the Reds a 2-0 lead. Aristides Aquino and Tucker Barnhart also slammed two-run homers.

Cincinnati's outburst in the seventh was highlighted by India's bases-loaded double, his third hit of the night.

JOLTIN' JOEY

Votto became the second major league player to get his 2,000th hit, 300th home run and 1,000th RBI in the same season. Hall of Famer Billy Williams did it with the Cubs in 1971. Votto joins Johnny Bench as the only Reds with 2,000 hits and 300 homers, and his 26 homers this season are his most since he hit 36 in 2017.

"More than anything, to be done with a game and get a win and also to feel momentum toward something we're collectively doing, and then to be a part of that with these individual milestones, is really pretty special," Votto said.

Cubs 2, Reds 1 (Tuesday) — Kyle Hendricks' 200th career appearance was especially satisfying for him and the skidding Chicago Cubs.

The 31-year-old right-hander not only became the first 14-game winner in the majors, but he helped the Cubs end a 12-game losing streak with six strong innings in a 2-1 win over the Cincinnati Reds on Tuesday night.

Hendricks (14-5) gave up three hits in six innings — the only big one a two-out homer by Nick Castellanos in the sixth — as Chicago won for the first time since Aug. 4 in Colorado. The Cubs are 3-15 since selling off their biggest stars at the trade deadline last month.

Frank Schwindel had a run-scoring double for the Cubs in the third, his sixth straight game with an extra-base hit. Happ homered to right field leading off the sixth, one of his three hits.

Cubs reliever Rowan Wick loaded the bases in the seventh but struck out Jonathan India before Adam Morgan came in from the bullpen and got Joey Votto to ground out.

Codi Heuer retired Cincinnati in order in the eighth and ninth for his second major league save and first this season.

Reds rookie Vladimir Gutiérrez (8-4) gave up nine hits while striking out seven over 6 1/3 innings. He won his previous four starts.

RESIGNS

Southwestern had won a total of eight games in the two previous seasons before Brierly took over but went 10-16 in her first year.

Overall, Brierly was 47-50 in four seasons and posted winning campaigns in her final two years — 16-8 in 2019-20 and a 13-9 last season.

Brierly, one of the top players in school history, ranks fourth on the school's career scoring list with 1,286 points.

After leading the Rebels to four-straight sectional titles, she played at Butler University where she was a two-year starter.

She spent several seasons at Hanover College as an assistant before taking the Southwestern job.

Scroggins said the search for Brierly's replacement will begin immediately.

With school already in session, a replacement will need to be found quickly.

Moore's resignation at Carroll County was more surprising.

The coach was entering his third year at the helm of the Panthers when the opportunity at Franklin County came with the resignation of Tony Wise two weeks ago.

A Franklin County native who still lives in Frankfort, Moore jumped at the chance to coach closer to home.

Moore was 11-32 in two seasons at Carroll County including a 1-13 campaign this past year when the Panthers were racked with COVID-19 stoppages and unable to find any sort of groove.

Like Southwestern, Carroll County will begin its search immediately for a new coach.

REBELS

deficit to beat Batesville in five sets in the Cubs' season opener Tuesday at home.

Madison found itself down after dropping 25-19 and 25-16 losses in the first and third sets, respectively, with only a hard-fought 27-25 win in the second set keeping the Cubs from getting swept.

But Madison rallied to win the fourth set 25-23 then posted the 15-8 victory in the fifth set to seize the win.

Madison, now 1-0, hosts Salem today and competes at Seymour on Saturday.

SHAWE FALLS TO MUSTANGS

Shawe volleyball opened the 2021 season with a hard-fought five-set loss at New Washington on Monday.

The Hilltoppers won the first two sets by identical 26-24 scores but New Washington rebounded to win the next three 25-14, 25-22 and 15-11.

Lina Leatherman was 21-for-25 serving with five aces to lead Shawe while Emmaline Leatherman was 16-of-19 serving with five aces and Payton Lock was 16-for-20 serving with four aces.

Shawe, now 0-1, hosted Rock Creek on Wednesday and traveled to Medora on Friday. The Hilltoppers host South Decatur on Monday.

CARROLL DROPS TWO IN OPENER

Carroll County volleyball opened the season with a pair of losses in the Ludlow Classic on Tuesday.

The Panthers fell 25-9, 25-12 to Calvary Christian in the first match and 25-22, 16-25, 15-10 to Dayton in the second match.

Carroll, now 0-2, hosts Grant County today before wrapping up the Ludlow Classic on Saturday.
